

2016: SIGADIT has again been Recognized as an Outstanding SIG!

The Association for Information Systems has again named SIGADIT as an outstanding Special Interest Group (SIG) for 2016. The communities receiving the Outstanding SIG, Chapter, or College recognition have been selected as having excelled in operations, member communications, educational and/or professional development events, and research publications.

SIGADIT is one of 30 groups that met the criteria for acknowledgment of being named an outstanding SIG, chapter or college for 2016. This recognition serves as motivation for groups to maintain excellent programs, operations, and services that support a successful Special Interest Group or chapter. Criteria includes: hosting events, workshops, or conference tracks; publishing research; recognizing member achievements; communication and promotion of the group's activities; effective group operations.

SIGADIT organizes tracks at major AIS conferences and the annual Pre-ICIS DIGIT Workshop, where researchers and practitioners around the world gather to share their cutting-edge research ideas and findings. (See here for details about the DIGIT Workshops).

About SIGADIT: The AIS SIGADIT is a community of the Association for Information Systems (AIS), a global society advancing the knowledge and promotion of excellence in the practice and study of information systems. SIGADIT provides an invaluable community and networking forum for people who share an interest in this prominent area of IS research. SIGADIT is also actively exploring opportunities to diversify to all regions of the AIS and become a truly global SIG that fosters research on IT adoption and diffusion anywhere in the world. See SIGADIT's website for more information: <http://www.sigadit.net/index.html>